For many people, Riverside, California, means auto racing. Riverside International Raceway distinguishes Riverside as one of the great racing cities in the United States. With the rearing down of Ontario Motor Speedway, RIR has taken on Indy car racing, too. This adds to the excitement and prestige. Riverside Poly High also enjoys prestige within their own town. The combination is awesome as we look for many years of great racing at RIR, and continuing top-notch education with the widest range of student interests in Riverside.

Welcome race fans! Life in the fast lane at Poly High School has begun. Speed, agility, and a flair for life on the racy side is what it takes to last in the fast-paced society at Poly. With severe budget cuts Poly students had to cope with losing a few favorite teachers, cutting down drama productions, and the overall handling of activities on a tight budget. This tension was revealed through competition in sports; the football team had a shaky pre-season which unified the school in support of the team. Through it all, Poly students united and stood in the winners circle after a great race through 1982.

1. "What's that, Phil? I can't hear you!" pipes Mark Ward as Phil Walsh tries to explain registration procedure.
2. Ken Peary dreams of driving under the checkered flag.

5. Victor Krummenacher casts a threat to innocent by-standers.

Changing Years ... Changing Gears

Registration acted as the pace car leading the students of Poly High into another year. The green flag was waved on September 14 and 1981-82 was underway. "Change" characterized the field of activities in this years race. Several entries were scratched, the most notable being the Freshmen Naming Assembly. Its deletion came as a shock to the fans, especially the Seniors. New entries, however, provided an unexpected spark of interest. The newly created Science Club gave members a chance to promote their scientific interests. The Timov Family let fans discuss philosophy without a classroom atmosphere. The Computer Club brought some advanced technology into the race. Humanities and Lettermans Club spun out on turn six, dropping out of the race. Riverside Poly had the promise of a "great year at the races."

SENIORS!

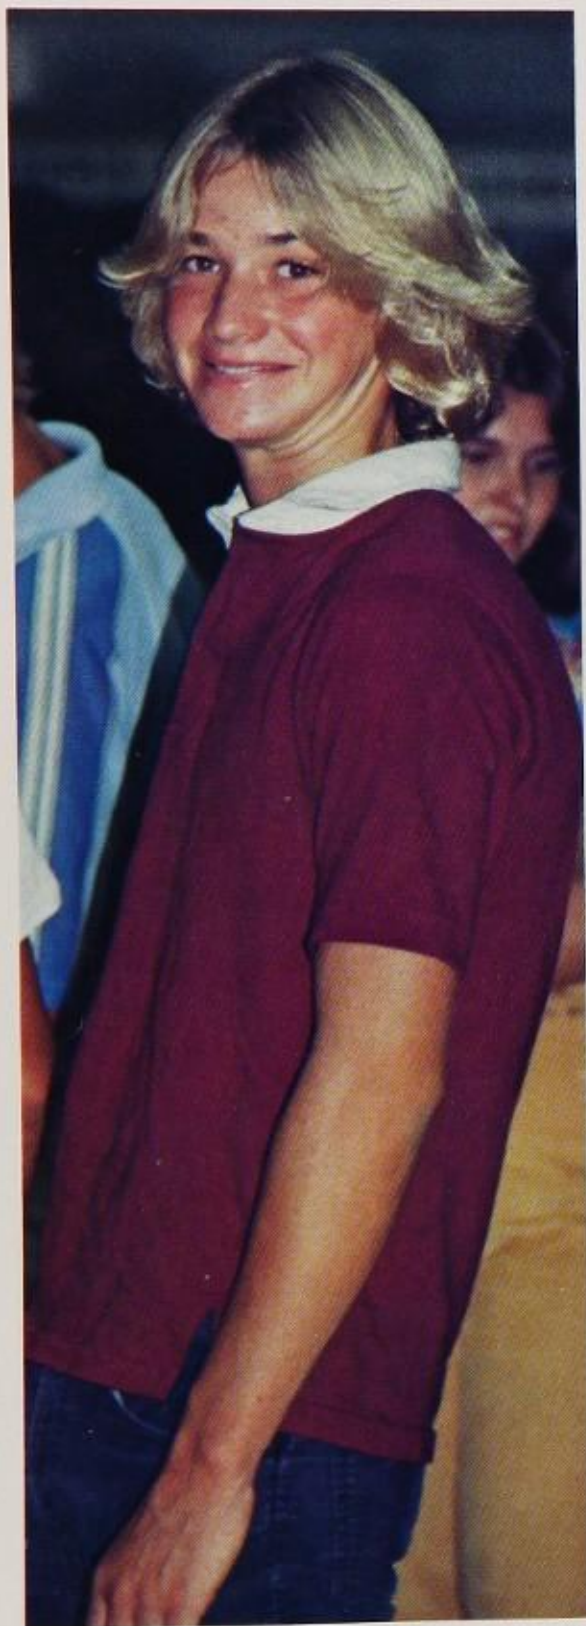

Poly students sat in the drivers seat as they steered their way to victory in 1981-'82. At Poly, everybody finished first en route to the ultimate challenge, the race of life. The road to the winners circle was a rough one, however, as the students faced tight turns and occasional mechanical problems. Poly lapped the slower cars and dominated every facet of the competition. The checkered flag signaled an overflow of emotions from everyone involved, and a feeling of relief dominated as the race of 82 was over. The celebration had begun!

HOMECOMING ... The Last Frontier

ON a blustery fall day, the floats came out of hiding, glittering and futuristic. They brought to life "space odyssey" despite the mad rush to finish in time, and amid a shower of oranges. As usual, the floats were spectacular. The parade from Gage to Poly was quite satisfactory to most, as spectator seats were available.

Fun In The Sun . . . But Wind?

As the sun rose on October 17, Poly students wiped the paste off their jeans and the remains of two weeks of floatbuilding out of their minds. Floats were completed, and the atmosphere of Homecoming 1981, "Space Odyssey", was set. The wind posed major problems, however, as pieces of floats were seen scattered along the parade route from Gage Middle School to Poly. Not only did the wind affect the floats, but it produced problems for the cheerleaders and flag girls. At the pep rally, students were in utter disbelief when the Publications float did not receive an award. The festivities continued with music and several booths with plenty to eat. CSF's Punk Rock Cake Walk proved a big hit once again, as it gave students a chance to have fun and satisfy their appetites. Although the wind was a factor, it did not stand in the way of Poly students and a good time.

7. Teri Aarons and Janette Pinedo vow to be friends forever.

For the first time in many years, Poly students had various choices for the type of music they listened to. Students may have stuck to the sound of the 70's disco, or they could have listened to the ever popular rock n roll, ranging from mellow rock to heavy metal. Other folks enjoyed the country/western sound. Fortunately, a new trend emerged, which everyone could have a change of pace. This was New Wave and punk rock. A new kind of dancing called pogo-ing was also popular. So, with all these choices Poly's dances had many varied types of songs which entertained everyone.

Being A Bear Is Never Having To Say You're Sorry

OUR PRIDE IS SHOWING

According to Mr. Mitsch, Director of Athletics, "Poly's athletic program is overall the most outstanding in our league. Our teams have been in the playoffs more than any other school in the Ivy League." This is because of the caliber of students that make Poly Pride a household word. Many athletes practiced over the summer. Dan Benner played summer league at UCR, "to improve as much as possible, and to be more effective during the school season." Along with fine athletic teams, Poly has a fine academic program. "At random, I feel that Poly would be overwhelmingly the first choice that comes to mind for sound academic preparation in the community," says counselor Ms. Monge. Another phase of campus life is one dollar lunches (up from seventy-five cents the previous year). Poly has one of the best cafeterias in the district. Quality has been synonymous with Poly — nothing can stop her now.

POLY'S PREPARED

Every Monday night and after school, the band practiced half-time routines. At the Lester Oaks Memorial Band Revue, it paid off. The band placed first in class A field show and the flags placed third. "I was very excited about our performance that night," commented Dan Elliott. Students were preparing for the college entrance tests. Mrs. Herring taught a weekly preparatory course for the long and grueling hours of the SAT and ACT exams. Clubs rushed to prepare skirts for the Homecoming Assembly but the Seniors missed the deadline and didn't show. As always, Poly was preparing for life's race.

1. "You shouldn't have insulted Mike Hallesey," says Nancy Mercalf to Julie Press.
2. Cheerleaders, students, and alumni sing the Alma Mater.
3. "Stop following me!" says Ken Peary.
4. Precision form is Poly's trademark.
5. Sharon Born and Carol Avey return from Del Taco in time to be five minutes late for class.
6. And thus the end of much ingenuity and hard work: the death of Publications's aluminum foil rocket.

No Where Else But Poly

Students competed in many races, but races for grades, and races for social acceptance were foremost in their minds. Their long range goals sometimes took the back seat during extracurricular activities. The students often called time out from school work on Friday nights, gathering in the winners circle at Straw Hat, where the gallant competitors of Poly High ate pizza. This gave them the much needed mental and physical energy to keep striving along the rough road ahead. Fast food chains were popular for lunch breaks. Del Taco nosed out Naugles and Carls Jr. as the most popular pit stop. Students sidelined themselves to develop other interests such as snow skiing, water skiing, dancing, playing musical instruments and working. Poly students crossed the wire in front, on their way to becoming champions in all areas of student life.

THE CONCERT SCENE

"Is that RUSH?" cries a disappointed fan while sitting next to the lightmen at a Rush concert. Likely enough, he bought his ticket at Tickerron. Fortunately, there are alternate places to buy tickets; one is DJs on Arlington. To the consumer, these activities are far from inexpensive.

Many students last summer spent paychecks, parents money, or even their college fund to see musical groups that they like best. Beachballs, frisbees and other such exertions increased the excitement to subpeak as the musicians appeared and played their songs. Aki Lippit, who saw various concerts this past year said, "I go because I like the groups and the atmosphere." Jon Reed, a sophomore, goes to concerts, "to see the groups and the people." Whether its worth it to one depends upon his tastes. Make up your own mind, but remember . . . one can't be sure if they'll still be together next year.

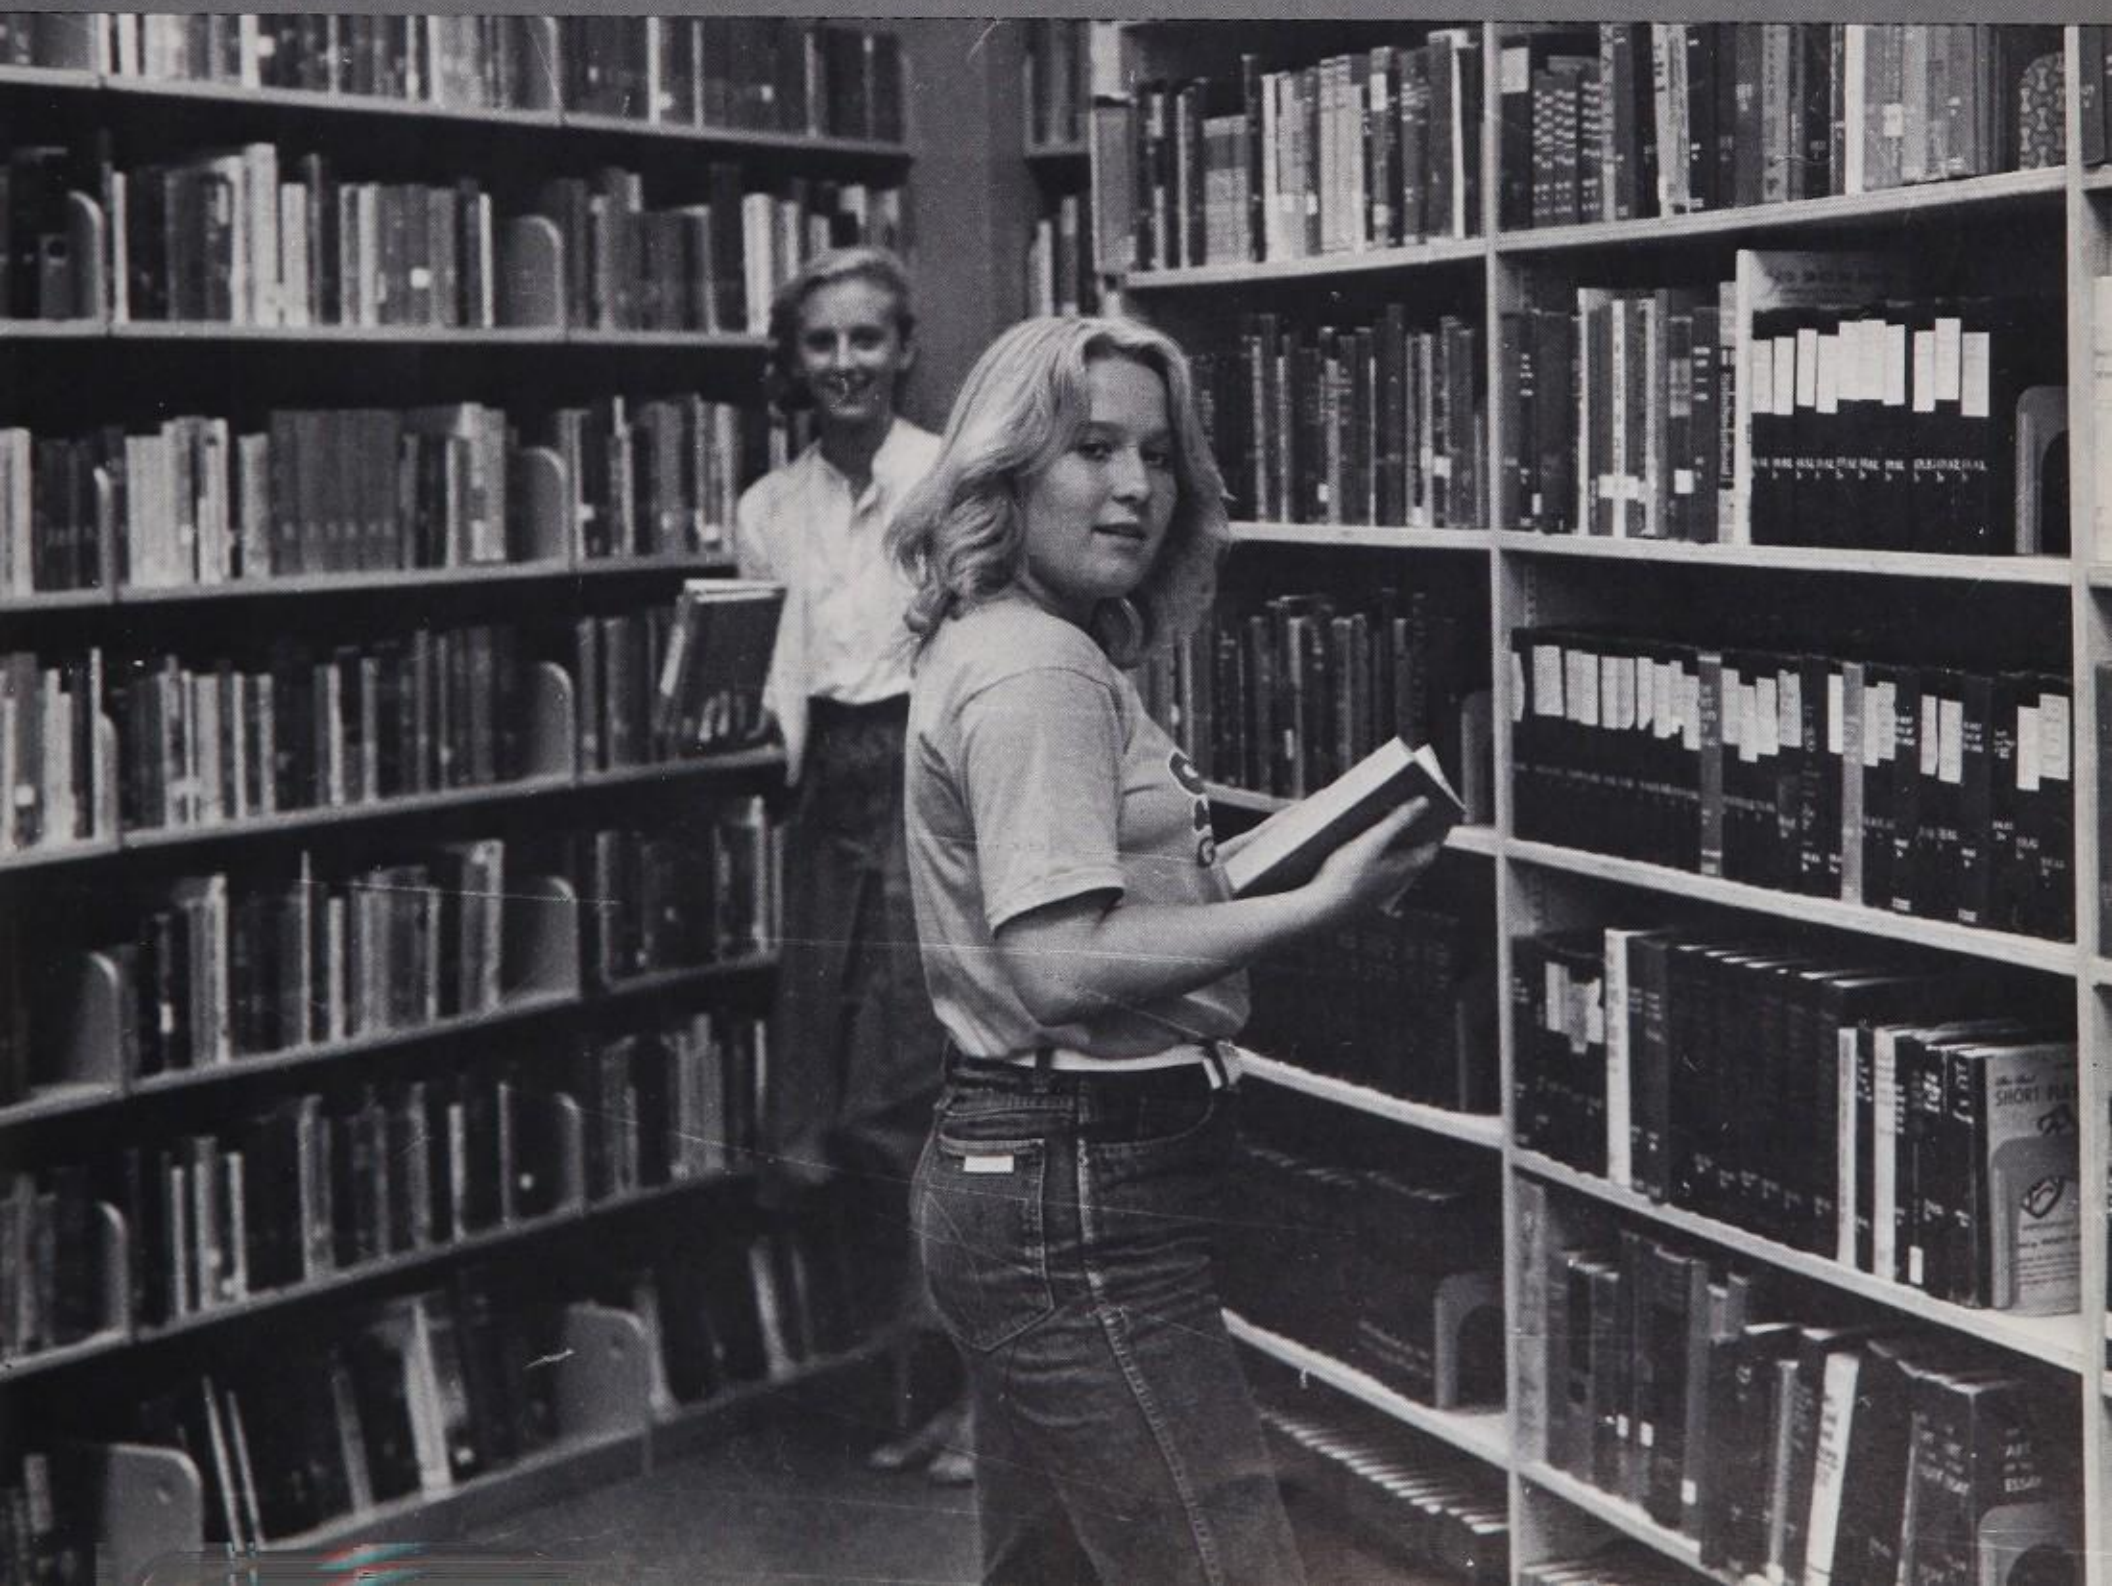

Surrounded by thousands of words of knowledge, Heidi Hedrick looks for that one key piece of information.

ACADEMICS

From Frogs To Fragments

Dissecting frogs, creating new elements, and science-related field trips were just a few of the experiences awaiting science classes. There were trips to the zoo to study animals and their behavior. For those students who wished to surpass beyond the normal range of courses, there was Advanced Biology. One of the many, more detailed projects was to create a greenhouse. They also took an excursion to Catalina. If students still were looking for something more, this year also marked the birth of the Science Club. The Science Club allowed students to take monthly trips to observe wildlife and nature. Being part of our everyday routine at school, the many interesting possibilities of English are usually overlooked. English has classes from the basic grammar to English Honors, missing nothing between. English Honors students not only went to Huntington Library, and other Los Angeles area museums, but gave oral reports and listened to guest speakers. Another class for students with special interest in English was Independent Study. Under the guidance of Mr. William Bell, students read, discussed, and wrote papers on many forms of classical literature. Stephen Herschler, a senior, said, "Independent English provides an opportunity for me to study in depth literatures that are of interest to me and improves my writing at the same time."

1. Terri Daniel says, "Who, me?", when caught underlining in her book.
2. Chris Popp enlightens his English class with a report on the Four Noble Truths.
3. Four Advanced Biology members, Lori Letwak, Michelle Griffin, Pam Galvin, and Carol Avey, take time out to pose in their greenhouse.
4. Tom Marantos wants YOU to be his guinea pig, while Jenny Reed just can't believe Brooke Rogers results.
5. Kim Kamrath did not realize that such a stupid question was possible.
6. While reacting to his test score, Clarke Camenga can't understand how Sarah Terrett and Allyson Pooley can gossip so much.

Qualifying For the Race

The bell rings and class is over. For many it is only the beginning. Doctors' assistants, waitresses, and secretaries were just a few of the occupations students rushed off to after school. Work Experience, the largest class on campus, allowed students to earn credits while working; and for those who needed it, permission was given to work past 10 p.m. on weeknights. Miss Smith, the director of the class tried to give the students cosmopolitanism in the working world by having guest speakers and lecturers from all walks of life. Colleen Duncan, a student in WE says, "I need Work Experience to work past 10, but I certainly don't mind the extra credits." ROP, although similar to work experience in many ways, was more for the student who wanted apprenticeship in a field he planned to go into after high school. In ROP students receive no pay, but more credits. An alternative to working off campus was being an aide for either the office or a teacher. The student, while learning valuable information, received credit.

With the morning's first light the faithful cars zoomed off with their latest set of racers and grey-haired instructors. The name is feared by more drivers than anything else. The course, of course, was Driver's Education. Instructed by Mr. Elliott, who incidentally no longer accompanies kids on the road, the class was designed to give the student lessons both in the law and safety, as well as basic maintenance of the automobile. Ellen Butki, now a senior, looks back upon Driver's Ed. with horror. She says, "It wasn't my driving I was worried about; it was the other people in the car that I had to drive with."

1. While Craig Jutila looks up room numbers for those dreaded little yellow slips, Carol Meeker asks Mrs. Wilkin if she can't please change her report card grades.
2. Sue Doubrava smiles with relief as she realizes that she is no longer one million dollars in debt.
3. "May I examine your eyes?" queries Lisa Levin.
4. Karen Bodhaine grimaces as her hit-and-run meter registers another accident.

Talents Discovered In The Arts

The belief one has of an artist is a painter or sculptor, but there are many more facets to the classification of an artist. Poly has the expected art crafts classes where students learn how to make jewelry, stained glass, and ceramics. But there were also classes in less delicate forms of art. Auto shop provides the student with workspace and tools to repair and improve his own racing machine. Wood shop, Photography and Silkscreen, and Architecture supply ample opportunity for the students to delve into their favorite subjects. "It's a really fun class," says Terrie Ward about Ceramics, "but don't plan to leave the class as neat as when you came." On the other end of the arts spectrum are both theatre arts and foreign languages. Foreign language gave a wide selection of languages to choose from. Penny O'Hanlon, who prides herself on her grace with languages, can speak German, French, Welsh, Russian, and of course, English. She says, "The only problem I have is that I frequently find myself getting confused and speaking the wrong language at the wrong time." The foreign language classes frequently performed skits and have been known to sing Christmas carols for other classes. Theatre Arts supplied students with both the chance to act in small plays, monologues, and improvisations, as well as stage construction and the arts of make-up and costume design. Students were also given the opportunity to work with theatre productions.

1. Mademoiselle Janell Strube pretends she wasn't caught playing Tic-Tac-Toe on the chalkboard.
2. Sean Bryant is caught letting the air out of someones tires.
3. Jay Leubs shows the fine art of enamelling.

Colleges. After graduation, and a summer full of memories, several students will continue their education at either a vocational college, or a two or four-year college. Students who were not able to wait until after graduation took a class or two at UCR or RCC while still in high school. With the help of Mrs. Lyons, the High School-University Program coordinator, students were accepted to the school early. "I took a linguistics class because I was bored with high school and needed a class that would allow me the freedom to acquire the knowledge I wanted," says Kathleen Donlan about her UCR class. Seniors who did not start their college life early suffered from confusion around November, just when college applications were due. To help this spreading disease, the counselors sponsored a college day which allowed for both students and representatives from California colleges to meet and discuss their offerings. Another student aid is the Resource Center. Run by Mrs. Kreigh, the center offered pamphlets on all types of schools and occupations, as well as a computer to help link students' interests with appropriate colleges.

On a slightly different track was College Bowl. While College Bowl was an extracurricular organization open to all high school students, it generally attracted the intellectual trivia buffs who liked to battle wits competitively. Co-captained by Scott Cogswell and Stephen Herschler, three-year members, College Bowl met Tuesdays after school in informal sparring sessions. Teams, selected at random, challenged each other across the College Bowl boards, and lights flashed on and off as questions were tossed out for grabs. Poly, one of sixteen area high schools invited to UCR College Bowl competition each spring, has established an enviable reputation, winning the championship every odd year.

1. Stephen Herschler applauds the victor, as Sam Wang cries after missing his first question in two years.
2. Poly "Eggheads" are practicing for an upcoming tournament.

CLUBS

For A Good Time, Science Club

A new club was started this year. This club was the Science Club. Advisors to the club were Mr. Krull and Mr. Nordeen. They led the club on several fun and educational field trips including a trip to Palm Springs to ride the tram and a whale watch. This club has never existed at Poly before and hopefully will be around for awhile. President Pat Malone joked, "It's just enough science with a lot of fun."

the J.R.O.T.C. program this year, this year provided several opportunities for progress. Under the guidance of Major Robert Sagona, they excelled in parades, demonstrations, and drill excellence competitions. Our J.R.O.T.C. provides training for students. They learn to follow orders, take initiative and accept responsibility. When asked, Connie Rice said, "The R.O.T.C. program has helped me to mature this year and I would recommend it to any student who needs direction."

The Vocal Department was very busy learning music for their Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and the Candlelight Procession at Disneyland. They learned a large number of songs for their Spring festivals.

The Chamber Singers had their hands full with thirty performances during a three week period during the holiday season. Their repertoire consisted of fifteen songs in French, English, and Latin. Performing at the RCC festival, the singers, "Clearly showed superiority with our behavior as well as our performance," commented Robin Borden. Doug Larson, a rookie to the choir, said, "I was impressed with the quality of our group compared to the other schools." Displaying the finest group of young vocalists, the Chamber Singers ended their performances by singing at Doger Stadium.

Serving her third year with the district, Mrs. Henrich, Director, grabbed hold of the orchestra wheel and really took it places. They started by playing the "Seven Joys of Christmas" with the choir, went to the SCSBOA festival, Mr. Miguel orchestra contest in San Diego, and finished by playing in the pit orchestra for "Fiddler on the Roof."

The Wind Ensemble, a hard working group of intense musicians attended the SCSBOA festival at Poly along with forty other groups. They held a spring concert and played in the musical. They are regarded as the "best sound in town" because of their ability to stay in tune, and Director J. Lewis adds that the group, "continues to be a pleasure to direct."

Poly Students Enjoy Varied Club Activities

The Math and Computer Club brought together the growing group of people interested in increasing their knowledge of computers and computer-related math while having fun doing it. Members ranged from people who owned complete Apple computer systems to those who had never used any computer. Computer club planned an active schedule of trips to various facilities with computers such as UCR and the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Founded last year around a back table in the library from an intense pseudo-intellectual, analytical discussion about regurgitation, the Timov Family has risen to be a controversial philosophy club. Viewed equally with awe and disgust by the school the Timov members avidly philosophize on a whole range of topics from the significance of hair to the importance of bias tape in today's society. The Timovs have brought fresh spirit and creativity into high school clubs.

The Bicycle Club was popular at Poly because of the large number of students who rode their bikes to school everyday and enjoyed it. Members found biking a relaxing way to spend time with their friends and meet new people. Mrs. Covell, advisor, and Jon Covell, president, planned several trips in the Riverside and surrounding areas.

In stride with the Timov Family was Bear Tracks. Many of its members also philosophized with the Timov Family. The staff met weekly to evaluate prose, poetry, essays and artwork submitted by Poly students. Their annual publication, distributed in June, is a collection of Poly's finest creative efforts.

BSU

The Black Student Union commended outstanding athletic and academic black students who had donated time and talent to the community. Another goal of the Black Student Union included bridging the communication gap between the black students and the school through the help of teachers and parents.

Hear The Roar

When one hears the word "Jesters" the image that comes to mind is the court jester. With his pointed shoes and floppy hat trying to amuse and entertain a king of some distant land, but when one hears the words "Jesters Club" a whole different image comes to mind . . . Jesters are theater, but they are more than that. "It's not just for actors. It's for anyone who would like to be involved in social activities pertaining to the performing or technological aspects of the theater . . . "We're down to earth and out in space", says Donna Thurmond, social director for Jesters.

"Jesters are not like other groups," says Robbyne Smith, Jesters President. "We have more people who want to do more and work harder." Jesters is a doing group not a watching group", says Bryan Welker, club publicity chairman.

3. Captain Keller (Jamie Snyder) takes disciplinary measures on his son, Jim (Bryan Welker.)
4. Aunt Ev (Valerie Steenhoven) spews out words of rage to Jim.
5. Capt. Keller, Mrs. Keller (Lisa Winship), Anne Sullivan, and Helen are elated as Helen speaks her first word.

CSF — Helping Others

Scholarships For Service, the state motto of CSF, was once again brilliantly exemplified. The club, composed of those students who earned at least three A's and one B, devoted their time to helping other students. CSF had a bank of fifty tutors who tutored seventy-five students. While helping others, the tutors also earned up to four dollars an hour for their work. Along with tutoring, the club members played the part of host and hostess to the representatives from colleges on College Day. Every year, the highlight for CSF members is their trip to Disneyland for an All CSF night.

AFS Roams The World

AFS is designed to involve the exchange students in activities at school as well as in the community. Throughout the year AFS raised money from its Homecoming carnal apple sale and its annual Valentine Day Carnation-gram sell. This money helps to send Poly students to foreign countries for either a summer or a year. From all around the world came Lea Armstrong of Australia, Pelle Bachman of Sweden, Pradit Sirijindapun of Thailand and Kate Robb-Webb of England. These students taught Poly students about their home lands while learning about California life. Foreign AFS members not only participate in activities around school, such as slide presentations of their home countries, but they also have parties, and weekends where they meet with other exchange students from all of Riverside County to talk about their experiences.

1. CSF officers: Jill Reves, Treasurer; Janell Strube, President; Patty Endo, Secretary; Carolyn Strong, Social Chairman; Ester Moron, Vice-President; and Advisor Eugene Miller are strongly backed by their club.
2. Scott Cogswell, Kathy Donlan, and Stephen Herschler wait patiently for their next CSF meeting.
3. Scribe, Tom Lennan, decorates the walls with meaningful passages.
4. Pat Malone thinks about the upcoming Disneyland trip.
5. Pelle Bachman waits to speak with his teacher.
6. AFS President Peter Nixen makes Kate Robb-Webb and Dit Sirijindapun feel at home.
7. AFS members work together to broaden their horizons.

The success of Poly High shines on! As the Commission members worked on immediate goals of organizing activities, elections and conducting Poly student business, they also toiled hard to reach ultimate success on that long, winding road.

Moshe Dyan ( Mark Wilchick, A.S.B. President) attained success in the defense of Israel while Nancy Reagan ( Amy Driscoll, Girls League President) is busy with the success of the White House banquets. Arch rival newscasters, Jane Pauley ( Lisa Levin, Commissioner of Intramurals and Assemblies) and Connie Chung ( Sara Liu, Commissioner of Activities) share the limelight of television broadcasting. Sandra O'Connor ( Kelly Cox, ASD Vice President) made her way into the news as she took her place as Supreme Court Justice. Jack Nicklaus ( Blake Campbell, SPOTLIGHT Editor-in-Chief) teed off on a long road and sunk the putt in ultimate victory. Tracy Austin ( Robyn Jones, Junior Class President) and Chris Everett Lloyd ( Cathy Muller, Sophomore Class President) both swung hard to meet and defeat their challengers. Little Orphan Annie ( Susie Best, ASD Secretary) and her dog looked longingly after Shirley Temple's ( Stephanie Brown, Freshman Class President) dancing footsteps.

Pelé (Wendell J. Cummings, Senior Class President) kicked his way to stardom as Cheryl Miller (Leslie Bendy, ASB Treasurer) shot her way to the stars. Singing their way along the long road to success were Ella Fitzgerald (Christine Ellis, BSU Representative) and Diana Ross (Teri Flowers, Commissioner of Pep). Princess Diana (Lea Appleton, Commissioner of Publicity) recently joined the Prince on his way to the royal palace. Susan Palmer, Speaker of the House, was too busy racing to her ultimate goal to be pictured here with these special personalities who have won the race to success.

Racing Toward Equality

Girls Athletic Association is a club of long standing at Poly High. The girls belonging to this club lead a double life in that they must be on a team, be a statistician, or team manager, in addition to remaining active in the club. The purpose of participating in GAA is to earn scholarships awarded at the end of the year based on length of service and highest accumulated points. Earning 10 service points per semester keeps the girls busy.

Points are earned by selling candy after school, helping with locker room tasks, and selling annual Pancake Breakfast tickets. Fund raisers which were used to increase scholarship funds include a swim-a-thon, bake sale, and candy sale. Two full years bring a GAA jacket, and high service points brings a trophy at the end of the year. Being a member of GAA is fun and rewarding.

Have you ever decided not to join a club because you were not qualified, interested, or involved? Girls League affords this to all girls who want to get "behind the wheel" and get involved. "Girls League", according to Diane Black, an officer, "gave me responsibilities and helped me learn a lot about leadership, which involved planning the annual Christmas Drive." Susie Best, ASB Secretary, said, "I never could find where the boys League met." Heidi Hedrick summed it up with, "Well, Girls League is different this year because I'm in it!"

Growing Together

Running, skiing, yachting, the 1981-82 KOALA Staff raced toward their final deadline to give you the book you are holding now. Working on KOALA staff gave members real experience in how professional publications are put together. They experienced the frustrations of deadlines and the fun of having a part in recording a year at Poly. The KOALA staff is divided into seven separate staffs which act independently to bring together the yearbook. Students are assigned pages or layouts for which they take pictures, write copy, and design how they will fit these on their page.

Staff members assembled at Riverside Raceway. In the front row, serious big wheel racing comes natural to Shawna Ravsten (Faculty staff) and Kirsten Monson (Sports staff). Back from Boston, Matt Forstie (Sports staff) and Mia Tobias (Faculty staff) finished first in the Marathon. With over 100,000,000 solutions possible, Doug Larsen can complete the Rubik's Cube the quickest. Steve Hughes (Sports Editor), member of the United States robaggon team, caught a cold while in Riverside. John Eckert's (Business Manager) frog "Belcho" won the Frog Jumping Contest by a leg. Chris "National Velter" Nagle (Sports staff) returns from her English fox hunt. Yacht and rug boat racing are favorite pastimes of Dawn Williams (Activities Staff) and Kathy Edwards (Sophoman) is ready for the race. Kevin Wooley (Ads Editor), Jane Costello (Senior Class Editor) and Jennifer Greene (Activities staff) never make mistakes. Chris Grigsby (Ads staff) marches wits with three yo-yos. Allan Crosthwaite (Co-Activities Editor) in the 1982 Toyota Celica Pace car pedals to the starting line. The last American submarine racer alive, Captain Skot Schuler (Art Editor) enjoys a good pipeful. Kevin Wooley

(Copy Editor) can find anyone for a leggy leg. Robbie Borden (Copy Editor) in her Calvin Klein potato sack, straps the spuds to victory. Straight from the River, Kelly Cox (Ads staff) and Julie Francisco (Sports staff) prefer water skiing to snow skiing anyday.

Drum major Larry Brooks led this years tall flag team and marching band. The band and flag team participated in two types of competition — street and field. In the street competition, the band simply marched down the street, like a parade. In the field competition, the band and tall flag performed patterns and made formations on a field, much like the halftime performance at the football game.

The band and tall flag team participated in various competitions. The Colton field show, Lester Oaks Memorial Band Review, the Cal Poly Pomona field show, Antelope Valley parade and field show, and the Disneyland parade. Aside from the band getting 1st place in the Colton field show and 1st place in the Lester Oaks Memorial Band Review, where the tall flags took 3rd place, they hosted the Riverside 500 parade.

The band had many goals, but above all Larry Brooks says that all they're here to do is "to do our best." The motto "Riverside's finest" has been denoted to our band.

snuggled up to James Bond (Dan Bennett, Features staff). Mary Goodacre (Jill Reeves, News staff) feels cheered and plots revenge, but the "Prerenders" (Julie Press, Features staff and Aki Lippitt, Editor-in-Chief) are wondering if she has that gun pointed in the right direction. The Great Gatsby (Scott Cogswell, Editorials staff) reminisces about one of his parties as Jacqueline Onassis (Paula Cates, Business Manager) thinks about poor Aristotle. Brooke Shields (Valerie Stadelbacher, News staff) and John Travolta (Tom Lennan, News staff still have some "night fever". Kareem Hassad (Gus Nelson, Editorials staff) assists Abdul, the oil minister (Blake Campbell, Editor-in-Chief) in making an oil deal, but J.R. (David Tustison, News staff) and Sue Ellen Ewing (Esther Moron, Sports Editor) are not interested. Two Mods (Stephen Herschler, Editorials Editor and Sue Littleton, News Editor) wonder why everyone is all dressed up while Arthur (John-Mark Staude, Sports staff) doesn't care, he can afford it. Magnum P.I. (John Bigelow, Sports staff) and Barman (Scott Biedermann, Editorials staff) thinks everyone looks pretty suspicious, but Lauren Bacall (Leslie Ransom, News staff) still wonders if that Pepsi Light did anything for her. Yoko Ono (Sara Liu, Sports staff) and Donna Summer (Terri Daniel, Feature staff) show their "hot stuff" while Bo Derek (Carolyn Strong, Features staff) waits for her "10".

Songleaders Make It Go

As 1981-82 raced along, Pep Squad kept us all going with an aura of spirit not seen in recent years. Everyone participated this year to give a feeling of team spirit. Lisa Wong stated, "We're thrilled at the overwhelming response this year." Poly Pride burst out of the pack to win this year's race. Thanks to the Pep Squad, the spirit and, most of all, the fans, for making it all possible.

Pep Squad worked hard spreading spirit and "Poly Pride" everywhere they went. Pep Squad members sold buttons and ribbons, coordinated pep rallies, and publicized all sports. New Pep Squad advisor Deanne Barnum enjoyed instructing them and encouraging them. When interviewed, she stated, "A real highlight for me has been getting to know each of the girls and see them work together as a team." The Pep Squad competed in city-wide competitions, as well as the Southern California competition. They accomplished these tasks while upholding a C-or-better average in academics. All their hard work and dedication was evident in their performances throughout the year.

Students liked dances. Dances gave a good excuse for a girl to ask that "special racy" guy who's "hot stuff" to the Midwinter Ball. The preparations for this main event were taken care of by the Activities Counsel — a very active club that aided in most commission-planned activities. Without the Activities Counsel, tickets, decorations and the overall success of the Midwinter Ball and Senior Prom would not have prevailed.

A dedicated group of students met in the library twice monthly. These students were members of the House of Advisory. Speaker of the House, Susan Palmer, led the meetings. The representatives discussed matters related to the entire student body such as songs played at dances, assembly guests, and lunch activities. The House of Advisory provides Poly students with a voice in student government.

Traditionally an all-boys organization, Key Club stepped up the pace and allowed girls to participate in the club. Key Club annually presents to the school and community the Key Club calendar which features selected senior girls from Poly. Key Club is a civic organization and its members help charities and help sponsor a 10-kilometer run.

- CLASSES -

Seniors . . .

In a CLASS by Themselves

"The racers are winding around the bend . . . the last stretch . . . and . . . it's the Class of 1982 by a nose!"

The seniors faced several hurdles in 1982 which seemed to hold them back from success, but by the end of the year they proved that they possessed the "class" needed to put them ahead of the rest.

Homecoming events proved disappointing with the seniors being asked to leave the traditional assembly due to rowdy behavior. "We showed more spirit than we ever had, but many students became over excited," stated Mia Tobias about the termination of the Homecoming assembly. The Senior class float was also sabotaged the morning of the parade, so the seniors showed their spirit by entering a truck-load of boisterous seniors instead.

At the semester, the Class of 1982 was faced with disputes over where to hold the graduation ceremony, ending up with the decision to continue the ceremony on the Poly football field.

The Class of 1982 was faced with many changes. Proposition 13 was just starting to show its effects on the school budget. Seniors were limited to five classes unless a sixth class was needed to graduate.

Another change was the enforcement of not letting seniors graduate without passing the swimming proficiency test. Terri Daniel comments, "I felt like I came to school to get an education, not to become a beach bunny!"

This year also brought about a change in the Freshman-naming assembly. There wasn't one. Instead the Freshmen were named quietly with a short announcement over the intercom.

With thoughts of longer periods, no advisory, and no money as the effect of Proposition 13, the year was best summed up by Colleen Duncan. "Although it had its drawbacks, being a senior is a final chance for you to let loose and do what you want before life catches you."

1. Senior class officers, Karen Palladino, Wendell Cummings, Jane Costello, Louie Herrera, and Patti Avellino show senior "class" by their choice of this racy "Vette."

JUNIORS '83

The class of 1983 began and finished the year with a great number of accomplishments. They raced off to a terrific year by victoriously winning first prize in the Homecoming float competition with their entry, "One Step Beyond." It was soon after that the class, led by class President Robyn Jones, rediously worked on fund-raisers for the Junior-Senior Prom. Such activities as the Hello Dance and Family Feud resulted in huge profits and enabled this year's Prom to be a successful spectacular, event!

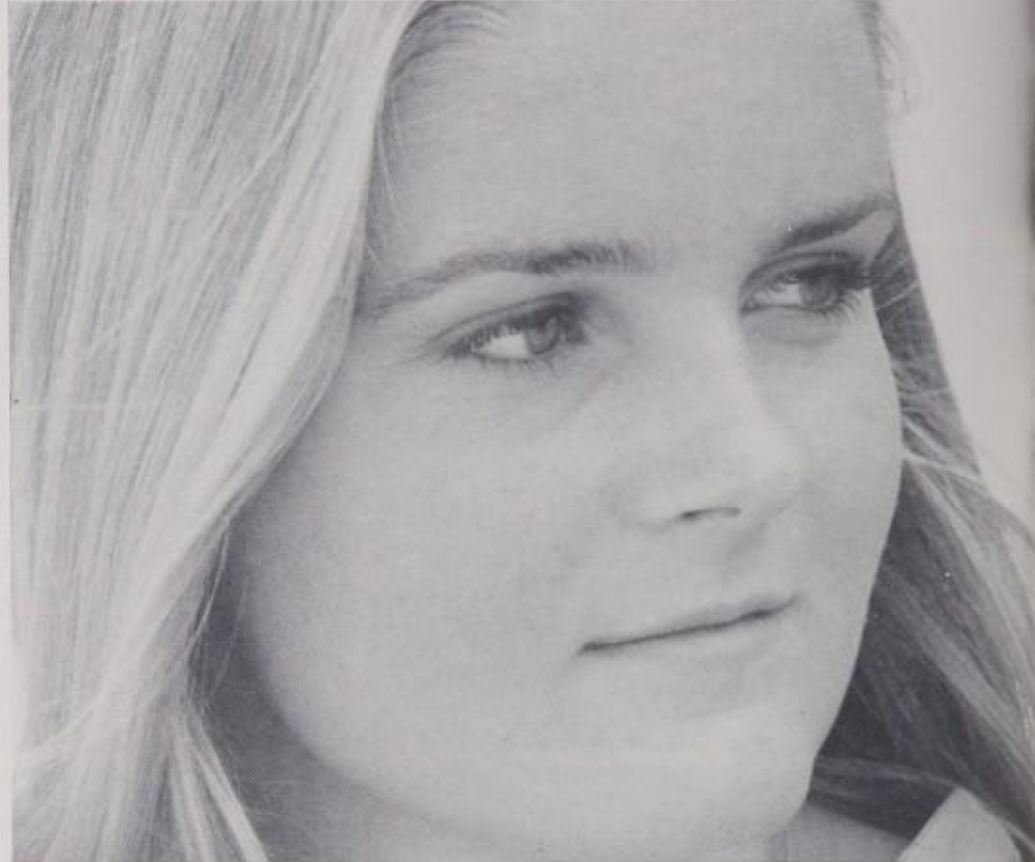

Even with all the fun of Homecoming and the Prom, Juniors were anxiously preparing themselves for college. Taking the PSAT/NMSQT and enrolling in advanced classes were all measures to be taken in preparation for the future. The Juniors definitely filled the year with school spirit and pride. Their success made 1981-1982 a year to remember and hopefully will be an inspiration to those classes who are following behind.

Sophomores '84

The Sucklings started the year with their Halloween Boo Grams. At Homecoming their float, "Space Travels Through the Ages", earned third place honors. Heidi Hofmann stated, "It was an experience which pulled us together and made us work as a team." To finance the Sophomore's activities, they had a hot dog booth at the Homecoming picnic, car washes, MGM and popsicle sales, and the trash drive. After laboring through the typical Sophomore pain, Drivers Education, they were rewarded with their Poly status symbol, class rings. The athletes of this Sophomore Class made Poly proud. The year was finished with the Suckling's Good-Dye Grams. Kathy Kjos reflected, "I guess our class is closer than it was last year. I hope it stays that way for the rest of our years here."

1. Bill Nelson is seen praying before his Spanish exam.

Finishing their year as Sophomores these Sucklings recalled some of their most memorable moments.

"Running the red light in Drivers Education and the next day the whole school knew about it." Mike Williams

"When my tennis skirt fell off in the middle of a match on the number one court." Heidi Hofmann

"I remember the pep-rally when Monty Stovner and I were picked to eat an apple. We were embarassed, wet, and disqualified." Kristy Tremain

"The day Kelly Reynolds was placed in a trash can by John Hoss. She was in a dress and could not get out." Susan Gibeault

"When I found ten dollars in front of the library." Dave Fiacco

"Tina Wulfing and I got lost in the boy's restroom because we tried to get a note away from Anthony Rhine." Lana Adams

"In Drivers Education I almost ran up the curb." Traci Bice

"When I wrote love letters to Tom Marantos, Mr. Buehler happened to get hold of one and read it to the class." Maranet Alvarado

FRESHMEN — CLASS OF 1985

The transition from middle school to Poly brings new friends, classes and teachers, with clubs to join, sports to play, dances and theater productions to attend — What's a Freshman to do? Why, participate, of course, and show your Poly Pride! However, when the Freshmen enter high school, one of the first and most important rules learned is not to upstage an upperclassman. But a certain segment of the class of 1985, namely the football team, committed this faux pas while endearing themselves to their fellow Egoops. Although they cannot yet wear letterman jackets, these jocks boast a title of which any Varsity stud would be proud. The honor bestowed upon them is that of playing an undefeated season. Congratulations, Egoops! Egoops? Come on, what kind of name is that?! Well, spell it backwards and look it up — if you dare!

1. Kevin Lovell does his imitation of a "Preppie."
2. Fran Tepper and Lori Ludi compare notes and gossip before the upcoming test.
3. Bart Essex and Tony Hernandez think they are "too cool" Freshmen.
4. "Check out the legs on that one," thinks Eric Champi-on as he squints to get a better view.
5. Linda Murray wonders if her hair is messy, while Cathy Shen cannot keep her eye off the little birdie.
6. Tina Frisby shows her distaste for punk rock.
7. This group of Freshmen sit in wild anticipation of their new P.E. Class.

Freshmen class officers for the 1981-82 school year were (from top to bottom) Stephanie Brown, president;
Michelle Malone, vice president; Beth Bowers, secretary; Francine Ivey, treasurer; and Kelly Kennedy, social chairman.

The Freshmen showed spirit and desire, if not willingness to work. Considering these are Egoops, two out of three isn't bad. Their Homecoming float earned them recognition as it took second place honors. Other activities, pep rallies and fund raisers, brought together the Class of 1985. Over one hundred dollars were earned from a mistletoe sale. In addition, Egoops waded through car washes and stuck out St. Patrick's Day candy gram sales displaying fearlessness of upperclassmen and unexpected endurance.

Administration

Members of the Board of Education influenced Poly students by making major decisions for the Riverside high schools. Principal Joseph Rile claims he "enjoys being at Poly and helping out the students." To assist him in creating a learning atmosphere were, Harry Monson, Joe Ficarra, and William Mitch. Many of the students on campus found guidance from the administration in making minor and major decisions.

Students do not realize the work that the secretaries, attendance office staff, librarian, and career guidance technician did to allow a smooth year. Enrollment decreased this year, causing cut-backs in employees, so Mrs. Munoz, an administrative aide, was reassigned to the attendance office. Mrs. Gabriel had an optimistic view, "The enrollment was down this year, but students seemed brighter and more cooperative." Poly's librarian Mr. Cook and Mrs. Rath, his assistant, helped students find information for research papers and novels for out-of-class reading.

English

Students were glad to see the end of the school year. Not only did it mean vacation but it also meant no more English classes. This resulted in no more correctly spoken grammar, written papers, or assigned reading. Teachers attempted to show students the value of American and English literature through assigned reading. Freshmen, new to assigned reading, struggled through When The Legends Die, Ivanhoe, and Julius Caesar. Sophomores cringed at the thought of another Science Fiction novel after Brave New World and 1984. Accustomed to assigned reading, Juniors raced to the bookstore for Cliff's Notes to The Scarlet Letter, Moby Dick, and The Red Badge of Courage. Seniors endured through the last few books which included Hamlet and Henry IV. Though reactions differed to assigned reading all students had good times in English. Carolyn Strong, a junior, enjoyed the class discussions in which everyone voiced their opinions. Sophomore Steve Matulis recalled their Christmas party when everyone jazzercized including the football players. Christine Nagle, a senior, recalls when they read love poems orally on Valentine's Day. Another student insisted the best part of English was the outnumbering of girls to boys 5:1.

Teachers in the Math Department challenged students to a race which to some seemed impossible. They crammed their brains with Algebraic properties, Theorems, Logarithms, Derivatives, and Antiderivatives. Beginning Racers passed Math 1 and 2, Algebra, and Geometry. Some students became discouraged and frustrated; others lost interest and quit the race. Yet more students advanced in the race by completing Intermediate and Advanced Math. By completing Calculus, some students finished the long race. Different students had different reasons for taking math. Students who completed Calculus were highly motivated. John Eckert claimed he finished because, "I'm into self-inflicted punishment." Mia Ashe said, "Finishing Calculus helped prepare me for college, and besides my mother made me." No matter which math classes were taken or what the motivation for taking them was, all students were challenged and taught by some of the best math teachers.

Future business men and women prepared themselves for the competitiveness of the real world by taking business classes. Secretaries of the future took Shorthand, Office Practice, and Typing. Future bookkeepers and accountants prepared themselves by taking Business Math and Accounting. Through these various classes students were offered opportunities to prepare for the business world of tomorrow.

Social Studies and Foreign Language

Latin students raced back through time to study the language of the Romans. Mr. Webb held their interest by making the classes different from any they had ever had before. He also taught German I. One of the Romance Languages, French, was taught by Mrs. Norton who captivated student interest by having them use French names in class. Spanish was taught by Mr. Luenberger and Mr. Gomez. Mr. Sartini kept his students up-to-date with his Channel 7 TV News Quizzes. Mr. Eaton used visual aides such as: posters, mobiles, skeletons, and replicas of monkey-heads to help teach Anthropology to his class.

"Disappointing," cites Mr. Krull of the new color of his room. What was described to him as "sand-colored" turned out to be a cross between pink and white. All of the science rooms were given a much needed paint job of either cream or light green. Although criticisms varied about the colors from the students and teachers, Mrs. James remarked that the off-white color of her room was "much better than the pink." Robin Borden and Jeannie Gardner agreed that it looked more like home while one of Mr. Ringwald's chemistry classes called it "the color they paint the inside of mental institutions." Mr. Ringwald maintained that schools are, after all, institutions dealing with mental aspects.

If students thought that Industrial Art classes were going to be cut from the schedule because of lack of interest or diminishing funds, they erred. Enrollment for Mr. Hemker's drafting and architecture classes jumped by one full class.

Advanced technology and increased color in silkscreen processing resulted in professional assignments for some students in Mr. Eckert's photography and silkscreen classes.

The Home Economics department suffered a loss of one staff member due to budget cuts. However in spite of larger class size and lower operating funds, the quality of instruction continued to be excellent, providing students with realistic experiences for after graduation.

3. Mr. Lewis dreams of his students practicing intently for once.
4. "BOOM . . . you're gone!" exclaims Mr. Elliot.

Not all schools offer special education and motivational classes. In fact very few schools do, but a special section of our faculty was trained to help those students. Mr. Lucero helped students with special learning needs in his Special Education classes. Mrs. Pray and Mrs. Williams motivated their students to reach their full potential in academic classes.

The racy inventiveness and creativity of students were challenged through the Fine Arts classes. Not only art and artcrafts were taught, but drawing offered a year of exciting experience, too. Jewelry offered a true rest of creativity. Perfection was attained by ceramics students who shaped and re-shaped clay. In any of the theater classes, acting was taught and in-class performances given. Intermediate and Advanced Band members practiced for football games, parades, and competitions. Orchestra made beautiful music which deserved to be heard on K-BIG. Psalms and madrigals were superbly mastered by the Intermediate Choir, Concert Choir, and Chamber Singers. All of this creativity was summed up in the words of Skot Schuler, a senior, "The Fine Art Classes helped me develop my talents. I might not become famous, but you never know."

Students didn't realize the importance of keeping physically fit. While some used the excuse of being tired, others said that the classes were monotonous and boring. The PE department decided to end the monotony and jazz up the classes by offering weight lifting, aerobics, and scuba classes. This encouraged the students to participate more.

WATER POLO

Once again the Water Polo team shot past its opponents to capture the title of Ivy League Champions. Led by seniors Jeff Scott, Aki Lippit, Dan Zemmels, and Scott Biedermann, Water Polo was undefeated in league and had a 13 and 5 season record. Although Poly was a young team, India posed the roughest league match; however, Poly won by a sizable margin. This enabled them to capture the league title and to represent the league in the 3A C.I.F. playoffs. In C.I.F. the team did very well, making it a satisfying end to a good season. As Captain Scott Biedermann put it, "Although we started the year as underdogs, we improved immensely, and kept up the Poly tradition of a winning season."

Although many Water Polo teams do not have J.V. or Soph-Fresh teams, Poly has enough players to maintain two full teams. Because other schools lack teams, Poly J.V. and Soph-Fresh did not always have opponents, but when they did they often triumphed. The J.V. led by Mike Lynch, Jim Gatherum, and Andy Sawley were 7-2 for the year, and the Soph-Fresh, lead by some promising young athletes, were 6-2 for the year. Both teams did well in league, with the Soph-Fresh going undefeated.

Pride In Action

Spirit! Despite the loss of the coveted Ivy League title, the Poly Varsity Football team displayed a considerable amount of pride and spirit.

Led by Captains Lauren Schrader, Doug Williams, and Mark Wiltchik, the team displayed their excessive pride and spirit at Pep rallies, around campus, and on the football field, truly following this year's theme "Pride in Action." After losing all pre-season games except one, which was awarded to them by forfeit, the team felt frustrated and was under intense pressure to win their first League game on Homecoming night. With parents and friends supporting the team, the Bears came through with a 28-7 victory over Norte Vista.

Although the bears lost the chance to participate in CIF, they showed that scores alone don't make up a first-rate solid team. They displayed good sportsmanship, leadership, talent, and above all, they brought spirit at a time when school spirit was diminishing. Lauren Schrader summed up the season with, "It is really frustrating being the first team to not carry on the tradition."

FOOTBALL

1. Fullback Damon Mann outmaneuvers the grasping arms of the opponent.
2. Like an arrow, Reggie Clark, leaves a trail of defensemen behind.

Ineffable!

The future holds promise for next year's Varsity football team. The Junior Varsity team had a 9-1 overall record, and a 5-0 Ivy League record. Coach Churchill states, "If the team continues to work hard, Poly football will regain the Ivy title."

During the early morning Pep assembly, the Freshman section chant was, "We have a football team, how about you!" There was no response from the Senior section. The Freshman football team had a 9-0 record and a lot of happy coaches. Led with a great staff and a lot of high-spirited players, they dominated the Ivy League. Coach Graves stated, "The team had no 'bad apples', and the friendly atmosphere and hard work brought the 9-0 record that we have not seen since 1974."

The Poly tennis team dominated the courts as usual. The team was off to a slow start, beginning the season with a loss to Esracea the second day of school. They then started to pull together a strong team, working extremely hard, drilling and practicing. It really paid off when they succeeded in taking first place in the Ivy League, while suffering only one loss. Next came three tough non-league matches in preparation for CIF, which they won. Brenda Benter summed up the season with these words, "By the beginning of TEAM CIF, we had accomplished many goals and had improved tremendously, both physically, and more important — mentally. Our minds were ready to enter the CIF competition and perform as the second-seeded team should."

As they do every year, the cross country squad continued to show the utmost devotion to their strenuous sport. Excluding the ones who were injured over the "course" of the season, the members arose at dawn each morning for sunrise practice. It paid off though, for their regular season culminated with a dramatic win over Arlington that clinched the Ivy League title for the Bears.

In addition to their all-out efforts, one of the best qualities of the team was their great sportsmanship. At every meet, not only did the team encourage the opposing team's runners, but even the parents of the Bears shouted words of confidence to both teams.

The parent participation was so greatly emphasized to the team that Coach Gary Hunt recorded how many family members showed up at each meet. The only way this year can be surpassed is if more students come out and support next year's team.

Under the guidance of Coach Bob Bushman, the Varsity Girls' Volleyball team finished by winning the Ivy League Championship title for fifth consecutive year. Their team spirit was hard to beat, as their opponents soon found out.

Set by team captain, Kelly Obeso, Karel Davis and Ann Hubbard led the hitters while Esther Moron totaled up the points with her untouchable serves. This year's team was "the closest one yet," said Karel Davis.

Dominating the Ivy League with a final win over La Sierra, the girls went on to CIF. Unfortunately they were closely defeated by Hemet in the first round. The team had an excellent season and look forward to an even better one next year.

The Jay-Vee team showed potential. They played well and learned when they could rely on each other. This experience will prove beneficial in future years. Leading players Stacy Hunt and Nancy Waters were moved up to Varsity for CIF to gain experience for next year. They hope to have a more successful season next year.

What a season! Without the ineligibilities of last year's team members, the Varsity soccer team was once again on the road to success. The return of many of last year's prominent players gave the team the advantage of experience that other teams envied. As Co-Captain Bang Little put it, "We had leadership."

During pre-season the team competed against such teams as Eisenhower, Corona, Santa Barbara, and South Pasadena. The Varsity soccer team also competed at the Damien Tournament, a tournament which hosts several outstanding teams each year. Even though the team didn't do as well as expected, losing their first two games, they gained valuable experience which they used the rest of the year as they dominated league. Co-Captain Wendell Cummings summed up his feelings with, "I'm proud of this year's team!"

The Junior Varsity team also had a good year. They were always enthusiastic about forecoming games and also hard working when it was time for practice. This dedication brought them many victories. Led by Nathan Heidrich, Derek McKown, Dave Snelgrove, and Kendahl Mizner, they gained the valuable experience that will benefit the Varsity team next year.

Earning Runs and Fame

The J.V. and Varsity Softball teams owe much of their success to increased conditioning during the preseason, formation of a parent booster club, and an intense desire to improve on the part of the players and coaches. The Varsity squad was composed mainly of Sophomores and Juniors and thus plans to be back next year for another assault on the Ivy League.

Captain Robin Borden said about the team, "Every year the softball team seems to be ignored. In three years we've had three coaches but the team managed to stick together in spite of it. Patty and Cathy Endo, Julie French, Jennifer Lowry, and I have played together since junior high, so regardless of our coaching staff we have had fun playing together."

SOFTBALL

Ann Hubbard stated, "These new coaches, Nordeen and Carlson, are the best we've ever had. They're organized and they work us hard in practice. This year's team spirit is really great!"

1. "I got it! I got it! I don't got it," Shouts Roxanne Keller.
2. Robin Borden suddenly realizes that she forgot to release the softball.
3. "See, Coach, I told you I could catch!" grins Amy Rowe.
4. "If you think that hit was awesome, wait till you see me slide!" says Annie Hubbard.
5. Coach Steve B. Nordeen says, "Get to work girls, or else..."

Moonlighting.

Many students lead a double life attending school during the day and moonlighting in the pool at night. The practices were endured by many to condition themselves for the big, all-important days at CIF, pre-lims and finals. CIF quality swimmers Sandi Alexander, Mia Ashe, Teri Ward, and

Micki Ward, and Kathleen Theobald look forward to tension-filled CIF days. Sandi sums up her hopes as she exclaims, "We're awesome and we're gonna' take CIF." Becky Lynch and Sharon Born reveal the feelings of the entire team saying, "We're just like a family and we really hang together."

1. Becky Lynch swims the longest lap alone as she brings in the tap time.
2. A loud BANG is heard as Kathleen Theobald fires from the starting block like a human cannon ball.
3. Terri Ward sports the cooler while resting up for the next heat.
4. A different view is taken of Mickie Ward showing deep concentration.
5. Kathleen Theobald plows the water.
6. Sandi Alexander swims desperately toward the finish line.

A smashing success! Once again, the tennis team captured another Ivy League title. With ranked players Julian Barham, and Benny Mascari, the team went undefeated. Team members were tough to beat, possessing such skills as power, agility, style, and precision. Dale West-Johnsrud summed up his feelings about fellow team members with, "We had a lot of talent, especially in singles."

The team started the season on resurfaced courts and with new coach Kelly Conway. The team never took winning for granted after capturing the CIF 3A Southern Section Championship in 1981. They never slowed down as they continuously practiced for CIF competition. Julian Barham summed up the season with, "We were confident and we had good team spirit."

At The Top

Continuing their tradition, the Varsity squad came through with a great season. Among their goals was the hope to compete in the State finals at Oakland. "The team had a great spirit of togetherness," said Renee Overton, which was carried into every game. As a part of their psyching up before the game, they listened to music, stretched, and thought about the game to come. This brought them closer together and helped them to win their games.

"Defense is really our game," stated Sonya Chambers; "— if we don't have good defense, the score will be somewhat closer." In addition to great defense, the team also showed terrific offensive ability. Coach Evans felt that, "the girls have put in a lot of effort as a team and they will all grow from the experience. Having Cheryl Miller, the team attracted a lot of fans. The girls play better for a large crowd. I expect to see them all go far in life."

What a job! Defending the Ivy League title and the CIF title is what the future holds for the JV Girls basketball team. Coach Marc

BASKETBALL

Evans states, "We have a great team and they score the points we need. They are showing domination in the League." All the JV girls agree they are a high spirited team with good potential. Six varsity players will be leaving the squad, and Coach Evans said, "they will be filled with confidence."

1. Cheryl Miller extends past her full 6 feet to make a block.
2. Concentrating on getting her two points, Renee Overton is oblivious to the fact that her belly button is showing.
3. Sonya Chambers abruptly stops as she realizes that she's headed toward the wrong basket.
4. Kelly Obeso lends a helping hand.
5. Kris Surratt can't quite seem to be able to reach the ball.

Junior Varsity members are Chris Surratt, Annie Peterson, Cheri Hill, Aleshia Poole, Jennifer Brassfield, Shannon Evans, Rachel Chatham, Clarissa Poole, and Malerie Thompson.

1. Despite being "hacked" by an opposing player, Toby White easily fills the hoop to begin a 3-point play.
2. Dave Myers' awesome defense has this player looking hopelessly for a place to go.
3. Ziggie Ford outreaches this North player to tip in a rare miss by a fellow teammate.
4. The Bears' only senior, Rascheed Tapscott shows his tremendous leaping ability as he finger-rolls the ball up and in.
5. Mike Sompayrac tips off summer league with a gasping leap!

"Ar-lo! Ar-lo!" could be heard around the arena as Coach Arlo Gard led his team to yet another exciting victory. The starting line up for the bears was as follows: at guards, senior Racheed Tapscott and junior David Myers, at forward positions were juniors, Reggie Miller and Tobin White. Taking the center spot was Dan Bennett. The strong point of the team was the fact that most of them played together since junior high. They have been brought up as a team and they know each other well. When you've been playing together for all these years you're bound to have a successful season. Before the league season, Poly played in three tournaments, Upland, Glendora, and the Riverside Holiday Tournament, which they took second, losing to North in the finals. But the feud was not over. Poly returned to beat North on their own floor 68-64. Poly hoped to win their league and continue in CIF. Coach Gard's ambition is to "get to at least the third round of CIF."

The team started the season by playing in two of Southern California's biggest tournaments, the Inglewood Invitational, and the La Serne Invitational. At the La Serne match, Poly nullified last year's disappointment of missing the play off pools, by making a fine showing. After the pre-season matches, the team plunged into league competition, which proved to be very rewarding. The teams in the league were usually beaten by Poly but there were difficult matches. "Mater Dei, which was a new addition to the league, was our toughest competition," stated John Biegelow. Biegelow also said, "Because of lack of player height, this year's team depended a lot on defense." This was evident in the games, but with the expertise of such experienced players as Kevin Bates, Pat Malone, Mark Ward, Bang Little, and Mike Sompayrac, the team scored the points needed to win most of their matches.

1. John Biegelow wonders if Mark Ward's return will make it over the net.
2. Kevin Bates drops to his knees to achieve the perfect set.
3. John Biegelow shows intense concentration as he prepares to return the ball.
4. After an accurate set from Kevin Bates, Mark Ward spikes the ball for another point.
5. Pat Malone points to the exact spot where the ball is going to land.

After finishing a disappointing fourth place in 1981, the '82 Bears had much to prove. Under Coach Rich Graves, the team was almost totally refurbished with a new flock of starters. Seniors Bob Mitsch and Jeff McCoy were the only returning starters. Aside from Ted Amidon, Dean Burdick, Richie Ortega, and Dale Teague, the '82 squad was filled with players from the '81 Jayvee team. Even though they had so many inexperienced players, the Bears exhibited great baseball know-how when crucial situations arose. They got this poise from the many months they played ball prior to baseball season. They played in an organized league during the summer of '81 and then, when school began, were in Graves' fourth period physical education class — which was strictly for prospective baseball players. As they did during practice, baseball P.E. put them through numerous calisthenics and baseball situations which gave them valuable experience long before the season began. With a year of Varsity experience under their belt, the team of '83 will be even stronger than this year's group.

Most of the Jayvee players also played in the summer league as well as in fourth period P.E. They finished second last year and did their best to improve upon that in '82. The Jayvee coach was Howard Boyer, who put his team through the same type of practices as the Varsity team, and has given Coach Graves encouraging prospects for future Varsity teams.

One of the fastest growing sports in California is now making news at Poly. The Poly Motocross Team showed its power in meets this year at Corona Raceway. The team has earned a reputation as one of the toughest teams in the area. One of the most physically demanding sports in the world, motocross is a favorite activity among all the members. Team Captain Joe Rincon states, "We're working to get more recognition here at Poly." Many of the team members also race independently to enhance their skills. Another favorite activity which the team enjoys is the Supercross at Anaheim Stadium. The team worked down on the field, and got to meet some of the world's best riders. Advisor Steve Koehler says, "It gives them a chance to meet the pros and to find opportunities to maybe turn pro themselves, someday." The team is very helpful to the guys who run the races. So the motocross team continues to keep their tradition of excellence intact, while experiencing "life in the fastlane" at Poly High.

With and excellent turnout at the beginning of the semester, the Gymnastics Team was full of promise. With the help of the returning veterans, the new members were able to quickly back up that special Poly style which propelled the team through many CIF competitions. With the active coaching of Mrs.

Snelgrove the team had a cartwheel-a-thon in order to provide money for new leotards and "sweats". "Doing three-hundred cartwheels gets a little tiring, but it's the only way we know how to make money," says Jennifer V. Greene, team member.

Alley To Success

Every Wednesday afternoon the Poly "Specialists" practiced at the Tava Bowling Lanes. Under the care and guidance of their coach, Mrs. Kreigh, they prepared for their upcoming weekend tournaments. Ranked in "A" division, the Bowling Team simply outranked their competition, statewide. "The team had spirit and pride as being part of the Poly Bears," stated Mrs. James. This year they collected even more trophies for their individual accomplishments as well as for their team efforts.

1. Nancy Clark says, "Quick take the picture! I can't stand here forever."
2. "I think I'm going to fall," said Susan Pierce
3. Jeannie Gardener exclaims, "Watch my style!"
4. Eric Snyder says, "Ah! Another strike!"
